PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

AeroAid First Aid Spray is a multipurpose topical antiseptic designed for everyday first aid across homes, workplaces, schools and travel. It provides two-way action - soothing comfort alongside antiseptic protection - for minor cuts, grazes, insect bites, stings and everyday skin irritations. The fine pump delivers quick, even coverage without direct contact, supporting clean application to awkward or tender areas and helping maintain good hygiene during care. A light, fast-drying feel means it sits comfortably under clothing or a secondary dressing so daily activity can continue with minimal interruption.

The formulation draws on tea tree and aloe elements referenced across the range to provide a calming skin feel while supporting routine first aid needs. Users appreciate the non-greasy finish, which helps reduce residue and mess, and the easy-to-carry profile that fits neatly in household kits, worksite cabinets, gloveboxes and day packs. Whether used as a first line of care after cleansing or as part of a broader dressing change, the spray integrates smoothly into common first aid routines for families and active individuals.

Designed for practical convenience, AeroAid enables touch-free application that covers skin quickly and evenly. The spray format supports consistent layering over the affected area before covering with an appropriate dressing when required. By combining a soothing sensation with antiseptic action and a comfortable skin feel, it helps users get back to tasks with added confidence. From kitchen mishaps to outdoor adventures, this versatile option is a reliable addition to general first aid supplies at home or on the move.
