PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

The AEROWASTE Bio-Waste Vomit Bag range is designed for clean, confident management of nausea and bio-waste in motion, at bedside, and anywhere rapid containment matters. Built for clinical reliability yet practical for everyday travel and community care, each bag combines robust construction with user-friendly features that help reduce mess, odour, and stress for patients and carers. The generous capacity suits adults and children, while a contoured ring guides use and supports a tidy experience in vehicles, wards, clinics, and home settings.

A twist-and-lock ring closure forms a secure seal after use to help prevent leaks during handling and transport. Clear measurement gradations on the bag allow quick volume checks and documentation without extra tools. The rigid mouth ring fits comfortably over the lips to reduce splash and spray, guiding contents deeper into the bag for better control. Single-use design supports hygiene routines and enables fast, low-touch disposal to minimise cross-contamination risks in shared environments.
