PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

NAVIGATOR Scale E Marine First Aid Kit Refill is designed to refresh and maintain a comprehensive marine first aid kit so it stays ready for unexpected incidents on the water and at home. It brings together a wide range of first aid consumables suitable for treating common injuries that may occur on boats, in coastal workplaces, during water sports, and around the home. The refill layout supports quick identification of items, helping users respond calmly and efficiently when time matters.

This refill range typically supports care for cuts, grazes, minor burns, eye irritation, sprains, strains, and other everyday injuries that may occur in a marine or household setting. Components are selected to assist with cleansing, covering, dressing, bandaging, and monitoring minor wounds so they remain protected while normal activity resumes. The assortment also suits general first aid needs in vehicles, small workplaces, and holiday accommodation, giving users confidence that essential items are close at hand.

The refill format helps extend the working life of an existing marine first aid kit by replacing used or expired items without needing to purchase a completely new kit. This can be especially useful for larger vessels, charter operators, and active families who use their kits frequently. A well stocked refill supports easier compliance with marine safety expectations and helps keep passengers, crew, and visitors better prepared for minor emergencies.

Whether kept on a recreational boat, commercial vessel, or in a home emergency cupboard, the NAVIGATOR Scale E Marine First Aid Kit Refill offers a practical mix of wound care, bandages, tapes, swabs, and support items. The layout in the reference image shows organised groupings of components, which can help users repack their existing case in a logical, easy to find arrangement. This encourages regular checks and top ups so the kit remains ready for weekend outings, longer voyages, and general household use.

- Comprehensive mix of essentials: supports response to a wide range of minor injuries in marine and home environments.
- Refill-focused design: allows convenient replacement of used items while retaining an existing case or cabinet.
- Suitable for boats and households: ideal for recreational craft, commercial vessels, garages, and home emergency cupboards.
- Supports organised layouts: assortment can be arranged clearly for fast item identification when needed.
- Cost-effective maintenance: helps keep marine first aid equipment current without buying a completely new kit.

This configuration is supplied as a refill kit, ideal for restoring the contents of an existing marine first aid case or cabinet while keeping the original housing in service.

Supplied as 1 complete refill set, this option conveniently refreshes a single marine first aid kit so it is ready for use on boats, at home, or in vehicles without sourcing separate components.
