PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

The AeroKit REGULATOR 3 Series Plastic Sports First Aid Kit is designed to support active people wherever sport and exercise take place. Housed in a durable plastic case, it helps organise a wide selection of hospital grade first aid components so they are easy to find when the pressure is on. The compact 23.3 x 26.6 x 9.8 cm case fits neatly into club rooms, equipment sheds, coaches' bags and vehicle boots, making it simple to keep essential first aid close to the sideline.

This sports focused kit is ideal for treating common injuries that occur during training and competition. It supports rapid response to sprains, strains, knocks and minor wounds with items such as instant ice packs, an aluminium splint, rigid sports tapes and wound care dressings. The layout helps users quickly identify what they need so more time is spent caring for the injured person and less time searching through loose supplies.

The robust hard case protects contents from dust, splashes and rough handling around fields, courts and swimming pools. A strong carry handle and secure clips help keep the kit closed in transit while still allowing fast access when required. The clean white and orange design with clear "Sports First Aid Kit" wording makes it easy to spot among other gear, which is especially useful in busy change rooms or equipment cages.

This versatile kit is suitable for community sports clubs, school teams, personal trainers, gyms and active families who want a dedicated sports first aid solution separate from everyday household supplies. It complements existing workplace or home kits by focusing on injuries more likely to occur during physical activity, helping users manage minor issues on the spot so play can resume safely when appropriate.
