PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

The RESPONDER 4 Series Metal Tough Food & Beverage Kit is a comprehensive workplace first aid solution designed for environments where food and drinks are prepared, served, or manufactured. It provides rapid access to essential first aid supplies so minor injuries and sudden incidents can be managed quickly and confidently. The metal case construction adds durability in busy kitchens, hospitality venues, and industrial food production sites, while the slim profile helps the kit sit neatly against a wall without wasting valuable space.

This kit is built around the needs of staff who work with knives, hot surfaces, machinery, and cleaning chemicals. A broad selection of dressings, bandages, wipes, tapes, and support items helps manage common workplace incidents such as cuts, grazes, minor burns, eye irritation, and sprains. Contents are laid out for easy identification so the right product can be selected in seconds, helping teams respond calmly under pressure.

The internal layout is designed to keep items organised and visible at a glance, making it simple for any team member to find what they need, when they need it. Compartments and shelves help separate product categories, supporting quick restocking and regular kit checks. The kit is suitable for a wide range of workplaces, including food manufacturing plants, restaurants, cafes, catering operations, canteens, bars, and beverage processing facilities, as well as general workplace settings that want a robust and clearly marked first aid kit.

With a strong metal outer, this kit is suited to environments where equipment is frequently moved, bumped, or exposed to higher levels of wear and tear. The clean white finish with a bold green first aid symbol makes it highly visible on walls or in shared work areas so staff and visitors can locate it instantly during an emergency. Its compact 24.5 x 12 x 38.5 cm dimensions mean it can be installed in tight spaces such as corridor walls, staff rooms, storerooms, and near food preparation benches while still providing ample internal capacity for a wide scope of first aid products.

Ideal for compliance-driven workplaces, the RESPONDER 4 Series Metal Tough Food & Beverage Kit supports the rapid and initial treatment of injuries in line with workplace health and safety policies. It is equally suitable for larger home kitchens, shared accommodation, and community halls where food is handled and a higher level of first aid readiness is desired.
