PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Stingose Gel provides targeted relief for the discomfort of stings and bites in a convenient gel presentation, helping users respond quickly in everyday and outdoor settings. The formulation features aluminium sulfate at 200 mg/mL (20% w/v) to calm and soothe pain, itch, and swelling associated with insect encounters. The gel spreads easily and is suitable for rapid application when minor first aid is needed at home, work, or while travelling.

Designed for practicality, the presentation supports quick coverage without the need for complicated preparation. Clear on-label indications make selection straightforward in the moment of need, and the compact format integrates neatly into workplace kits, vehicle glove boxes, backpacks, and camping gear. This makes it a reliable addition for consumers, workplaces, and community organisations seeking dependable sting and bite relief.

Stingose Gel is widely recognised for its role in first aid preparedness. The focus on fast soothing action, portability, and ease of use means it performs well in environments where a prompt response is important—whether that is a busy household, an on-site team, or outdoor activities. With a clear purpose and proven active ingredient, it supports reassurance when minor incidents happen.
